We are living through a time period where uncertainty is the new normal, which means that now, more than ever, business owners must be able to adapt to the ever-changing landscape with an agility never before needed. Leaders are now called upon to maintain and strengthen existing connections and forge new connections - and all of this is to be orchestrated in a way where risks are understood, calculated and, whenever possible, mitigated.

To do this, the strongest business owners need the right team of experts and advisors (a good Lawyer, CPA, Banker and Insurance partner) to help identify opportunities, identify and evaluate risk, and offer creative solutions and sound advice. Join our partner, Heidi M. Winslow, and her fellow panelists as these experts in their respective industries discuss what is important to your business in these unprecedented times.
